Plant Engineering

In the field of plant engineering, GSK Stockmann enjoys an international reputation as one of the most sought-after law firms for legal advice and support. As in all our other fields of practice, our approach to plant engineering is comprehensive and integrated. We have extensive experience in supporting projects connected with industrial plants, infrastructures and offshore wind farms.

We also offer one-stop-shop solutions for investors, engineers and executing companies who operate globally: our contracts comply with international standards and are typically drafted in English. Our services cover inbound as well as outbound projects. We have particular expertise in:

- Drafting complex contracts
- International contract standards
- UN sales law (CISG), Incoterms
- Interface management
- Contract management and claims management
- Dispute resolution, ADR procedures
