- Restructurings and reorganisations
- Negotiations with trade unions and works councils
- HR compliance
- Employee data protection
- Litigation

Compensation & benefits

In the aftermath of the financial crisis and the regulations that followed in its wake, the German government has cracked down and taken considerable steps to regulate remuneration paid to employees in the finance industry. More and more national and international regulations are being enforced to regulate this area. As a result, it is vital that companies maintain an overview in this ever-changing area of legislation. We have particular expertise in relation to:

- The German Remuneration Ordinance for Institutions
- AIFMD guidelines, asset management companies
